With the sending of third "remindwith the sending of third "remind-era," in the form of facsimile repro-ductions of the "Do It Now" cartoon printed in The Washington Herald last Friday, plans for the "get together" dinner of the retail merchants of Washington, under the auspices of the Retail ington, under the auspices of the Retail Merchants' Association were brought to a head yesterday. The cartoon, reproduced on cards about twice the size of an ordinary postal card, bears the following inscription:

"Do it now; send your order for tickets to the retail merchants' 'get together' dinner. Don't be the 'late' Mr. Merchant."

About 600 of the cards were sent out.

It was announced yesterday that Capt. James F. Oyster, president of the Cham-ber of Commerce, would be unable to at-tend the dinner because of an out-oftend the dinner because of an out-of-town engagement. Capt. Oyster was on the programme for a short talk. His place will be filled by D. J. Callahan, first vice president of the Chamber. Joseph Strasburger, president of the Refail Merchants' Association, last night consented to give out one of the enter-tainment features for the dinner. Mr. Strasburger and Ross P. Andrews, chair-man of the banoust committee, how Strasburger and Ross P. Andrews, chairman of the banquet committee, have been guarding the facts about the entertainment features jealously and it is understood a number of suprises are still up their sleeves. The big feature of the show, however, will be the inimitable George O'Connor, who undoubtedly will be supported and accompanied by the ever-smilling "Officer" Horn-not Van. In addition, a well-known quartet will sing and an orchestra will furnish music throughout the dinner.

OPINION AFFECTS NAVAL OFFICERS

Await Meyer's Action on Retirement Law.

Naval officers who have examined the opinion handed down by Justice Job Barnard, of the District Suprems Court. last Friday, wherein he decided that naval officers could not be retired val officers could not be retried under the existing law unless they had seen forty-five years of continuous service, declared last night that the opinion is the most revolutionary ever given by a court and affects at least 25 per cent of the retirements in recent years.

Until Secretary of the Navy Meyer has announced what steps he will take to-ward accepting the decision of Justice Barnard, none of the officers in official positions under him will discuss the sitpositions under him will discuss the sit-uation. Capt. Robert L. Bussell, judge advocate general of the Navy Depart-ment, stated that the practice of retir-ing officers at the age of sixty-two had been in existence for forty years. He admitted that the law, as interpreted by Justice Barnard, had not been compiled with, but expressed his doubt that all re-tirements up to date would be nullified by the decision. The decision in question resulted from the suit brought by George L. Foreman, a
